

Lynn Ruehlmann Storyteller
Presents

It's a Lulu!

A show creating something out of nothing

Lulu's been cooking up a lulu of a show about creativity.

She'll get Storyteller Lynn Ruehlmann telling folktales about food:

What imaginative thing did the turtle do to keep from being made into soup?

And true tales:

People used to use pepper as money?

How in the world did that work?

(Ah-choo)

Before long, Lulu will add music, getting the whole audience singing songs about food.

And then she'll show off how to make puppets out of nothing, or almost nothing from the kitchen, starting with a soup pot and

. . . hmmm . . . who knows what else?

(Shhhh, don't let her know you know SHE was made from found objects, starting with a mop!)

Lynn Ruehlmann's performances and workshops have taken her to festivals, libraries, museums, schools and colleges all across the country. She won a Folio Award for Best Actress in a Comedy, Young Audiences of Virginia named her Artist of the Year, and her audiobooks, "Spy! The Story of Civil War Spy Elizabeth Van Lew" and "It Happened in the White House," won two national awards each.
